

A ship's navigating officer scans the waters ahead by radar. Eighty-five per cent of Canadian radar-equipped ships carry Canadian Marconi equipment

A technician of the Commercial Products Division checking over a high-power transmitter. Large or small—it's all in the day's work at Canadian Marconi

CANADIAN

H. G. Nelson (left), a director of M.W.T. and 'English Electric' Deputy Managing Director, became a Canadian Marconi Company Director on its joining the English Electric Group. Centre, S. M. Finlayson, President, C.M.C., with F. N. Sutherland, our General Manager

"Here is the news." Dean Kay, one of Montreal's most popular radio announcers, "on the air" at Canadian Marconi's Broadcasting Station, CFCF

Lucille Bouthillette, one of the girls who put finishing touches to television chassis. There are two hundred and thirty-three women on the Canadian factory staff

MARCONI

Gold-plating paper-thin crystals. Some of the most delicate work in the C.M.C. plant goes on in the crystal laboratory

An eye to the future. The Research Department has been greatly expanded. Work includes chemistry, medicine, metallurgy

